Integration Of Schools At Crucial Stage

New Orleans Police Force Girds for Possible Violence

By The Associated Press
The gradual, orderly spread of public school integration in the South this year reached a crucial phase at New Orleans today while there were rumblings of discontent at Chicago and New Rochelle, N.Y.

The increase in the number of Negroes enrolled with white pupils in the South was relatively small but was considered significant because such large cities as Dallas, Tex., and Atlanta, Ga., were included.

President Kennedy said in Washington that peaceful integration was a "dramatic demonstration of U.S. progress in improving the position of American Negroes."

He congratulated Little Rock and Dallas and communities in Arkansas, Texas, Florida, Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee for admitting Negroes to previously white schools without incident. Earlier he praised Atlanta for its quiet integration of four high schools.

New Orleans police erected barricades a block away around the six schools scheduled for integration. The entire police force was placed on a 12-hour day, some 120 U.S. deputy marshals were quartered at Camp LeRoy Johnson ready to assist if needed, and the FBI kept a watchful eye on the situation.

Only two of the New Orleans schools—McDonogh 19 and William Frantz—planned to admit Negro pupils immediately. The New Orleans Parish School Board said less than 10 Negro first graders would enter the other four schools before Sept. 15. The actual date of entry was not announced.

18 Negroes Attend

Eighteen Negro children attended previously white elementary schools in Dallas Wednesday, attracting little attention. Police found traffic control their sole duty at what had been the nation's largest segregated school system.

Galveston, 295 miles south of Dallas, also integrated kindergarten and first grades without incident when 37 Negroes began classes in three previously white schools.

The predominantly Negro Lincoln Elementary School at New Rochelle, N.Y., began carrying out a court order to eliminate racial segregation.

The school board president Merlyle S. Ruker, said 267 of its 485 pupils were being transferred to 11 other elementary schools in the city. The other schools are predominantly white, but all but two have some Negro pupils.

At Chicago, another city in which there are no Negro or white schools as such, more than 100 Negro youngsters tried without success to enroll in public schools attended only by white pupils.

The Negroes were turned away on grounds that each school admits only pupils who live within its district. This results in some white schools, some Negro and some integrated.

Republicans Plan For Fall Campaign

A political pep rally and the fall election plans were discussed at a joint meeting of the executive committees of the Salem Men and Women's Republican Clubs Wednesday evening at the Memorial Building.

Robert Taft Jr., a member of the Ohio State Legislature, will be guest speaker at the rally to be held Sept. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Memorial Building. The rally is county-wide and is open to the public.

Lloyd Gordon was named general chairman of the event, assisted by the following representatives of the two clubs: Henry Reese, Republican nominee for mayor, L. J. Raymond, Lozier Caplan, Wesley Houger, Mrs. G. D. Edgerton, Mrs. Harry Wilson, Mrs. Letha Asbury, Mrs. Fred Miller and Mrs. Charles Mangus. Lunch will be served by the Women's Club.

Atty. Bryce Kendall and Joseph Pidgeon Jr. were named co-chairmen of the fall campaign committee. They will meet soon with the executive committees to appoint committees for the campaign.

Gain Of 70 Pupils Noted

School Enrollment Here Is 3,666

A bulging Junior High School enrollment has accounted for an over-all pupil increase in the Salem public school system this fall. Total enrollment in all of the buildings when classes resumed Wednesday morning was 3,666 — a gain of 70 over the number of students in school when the last term ended June 8, Supt. Paul E. Smith reported.

Enrollment at the Junior High for the first day was 874, a gain of 49 over last year.

The Senior High School had 659 students in classes, which was a decline of 34 from the opening day a year ago.

In the elementary grades (five buildings) registration was 1,808 — a decrease of 142. Kindergarten registration was 323.

"The first full week of school commencing next Monday is expected to see additional pupils in school," Supt. Smith said, "and enrollments probably will be up."

The re-opening of Salem schools went smoothly, he added.

Teachers attended a briefing session Tuesday, with Supt. Smith discussing teacher responsibilities at the meeting which was presided over by F. Edwin Miller, president of the Salem Teachers Association. Eighteen new instructors were introduced.

St. Paul's Catholic School had an opening day enrollment Tuesday of 501, which is only three less than the total a year ago, Sister M. Benedicta, the principal, reported.

Hurricane Carla Approaching Gulf

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Carla crept toward the Gulf of Mexico today as if unable to decide which way to head—Mexico to the northwestward or the U.S. Gulf Coast to the north and east.

Forecasters at the U.S. Weather Bureau in Miami said Carla was expected to brush both northeast Yucatan and extreme western Cuba in entering the Yucatan Channel that leads into the Gulf.

The storm, packing winds up to 75 miles per hour over a small area near the center, was still in the process of development near the channel on a poky 8 m.p.h. northwest to north-northwest course.

Weathermen expected slow intensification, with course and speed maintained, as Carla entered the southeastern Gulf of Mexico.

The Caribbean-born hurricane was located at 5 a.m. 50 miles northeast of Cozumel Island, off the Yucatan Peninsula's northeast tip, 110 miles southwest of Cuba's western tip and 500 miles southwest of Miami.

Gale force winds ranged 250 miles northeast and 100 miles southeast of the storm's center. Tides which may rise to five to seven feet, heavy rains and dangerous winds of gale to possibly hurricane force were anticipated for the northeast tip of Yucatan and extreme western Cuba during Carla's passage through the channel.

The Weather Bureau warned shrimpers and other small craft in the southeastern and south central Gulf of Mexico to seek safe harbor immediately. It said those elsewhere in the eastern and central Gulf should move near safe waters.

A reconnaissance plane flew through the hurricane's 12-mile "eye" and the pilot reported he was unable to maintain a low level flight because of the large number of birds trapped inside the whirling winds.

Forecasters declined to project Carla's path beyond advisories but they warned all interests on the Gulf of Mexico to keep posted on the latest information. Ships in the storm's path were told to exercise caution.

The Navy ordered all its ships out of Key West Harbor as a precautionary measure. Submarines, destroyers and smaller craft followed other naval vessels to anchorage where they could head for the open sea quickly should Carla approach Key West.

Chief Storm Forecaster Gordon Dunn said indications were that some rain may fall over south Florida "but the chance of hurricane winds in this area is very remote."

He emphasized it was too early to tell what coastal area might be affected and he added: "We'll have the storm with us for several days."

The GM-UAW negotiations are continuing under a strike truce. A shutdown of GM plants was averted Wednesday by extending the deadline to 10 a.m. Monday. The union's contract with Ford and Chrysler were extended to next Wednesday midnight.

Nearly all of GM's 325,000 hourly workers stayed on the job. But there was a rash of wildcat strikes at seven GM plants. Reuther predicted operations at the company's 129 plants will be normal and workers will be "elated" when they learn the details of the economic package.

Reuther told newsmen that he was "not free to discuss the details" of the union's agreement with GM on broad economic issues. The UAW and GM were reported—without confirmation—to

Titan Blazes 6,100 Miles, Ejects Capsule

CAPE CANAVERAL, Florida (AP)—An intercontinental range Titan missile blazed 6,100 miles Wednesday night and ejected an experiment-filled capsule which was picked up by a recovery vessel.

The successful flight matched the longest previous distance covered by Titan and edged the ocean-spanning rocket closer to operational readiness.

Within a few weeks, Air Force troops are scheduled to launch a Titan from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., to signal that the big ICBM is ready for deployment. It will be this nation's second operational long-range rocket, joining a growing force of Atlas missiles.

The Air Force said main objectives were to obtain data on propulsion, control, guidance and electrical power systems and the nose cone performance. The distance traveled was only 200 miles less than the initial planned combat range.

As a dividend experiment, a 30-inch cylindrical capsule popped out of the nose cone during re-entry and parachuted into the impact zone about 1,000 miles southeast of the South Atlantic island of Ascension.

The package carried fruit flies, skin tissue and other living or-

Four Guard Divisions Put On Call Notice

Units May Free Regular Troops For Overseas Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army appeared today to be wheeling four National Guard infantry and armored divisions into position to free regular Army divisions for movement overseas, if the Berlin crisis becomes acute.

The four Guard divisions—the 26th Infantry of Massachusetts, the 28th Infantry of Pennsylvania, the 32nd Infantry of Wisconsin and the 49th Armored of Texas—Wednesday were put on notice that they face possible calls to federal duty. Such a call could come in a matter of weeks.

Along with 475 lesser Guard and Reserve units in 46 states and the District of Columbia these divisions were given a top priority label by the Army.

"They will begin an intensified training program immediately in order to increase their combat readiness," the Army said.

The divisions and the individual units, combat and support types, will be reinforced from the ready reserve pool to bring them to near full strength.

Total strength of these formations now stands at about 96,000. Some 52,000 ready reservists will be assigned or attached to them to fill out their ranks.

Orders to put these measures into effect went out Wednesday and Army officials estimated the four divisions could be brought close to full strength in about 15 days. Infantry divisions total 13,700 men and armored divisions 14,600 men when all spaces are filled.

Army officers shied away from calling Wednesday's action an alert.

When asked if the four divisions will be called into active service, one spokesman said "it depends on the world situation."

The Army now is building three regular Army training divisions into combat shape. That would give the United States six Army and two Marine divisions, now based inside the country, for movement abroad if needed to bolster the Western defense line in Europe.

Five U.S. infantry and armored divisions now are arrayed in West Germany and a small force of 6,500 is in Berlin.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is reported to have asked the Army if it could be in position to send six divisions abroad by mid-November.

If a decision is made to reinforce the troops facing the Soviets in the critical weeks ahead, the Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Texas Guard divisions would replace regular divisions in the strategic reserve within the continental United States.

There they would receive more rigorous training and would be available for use on the European front, if necessary, or to cope with other troubles which might break out elsewhere.

Call-up of the four Guard divisions would increase U.S. ground strength to 18 Army divisions, plus three Marine.

Driver Fined $200 For Intoxication

William E. Roessler, 41, of RD 1, Canfield was fined $200, sentenced to 10 days in the city jail, and denied the right to drive in Salem for one year after pleading guilty before Mayor Dean B. Cramer this morning to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

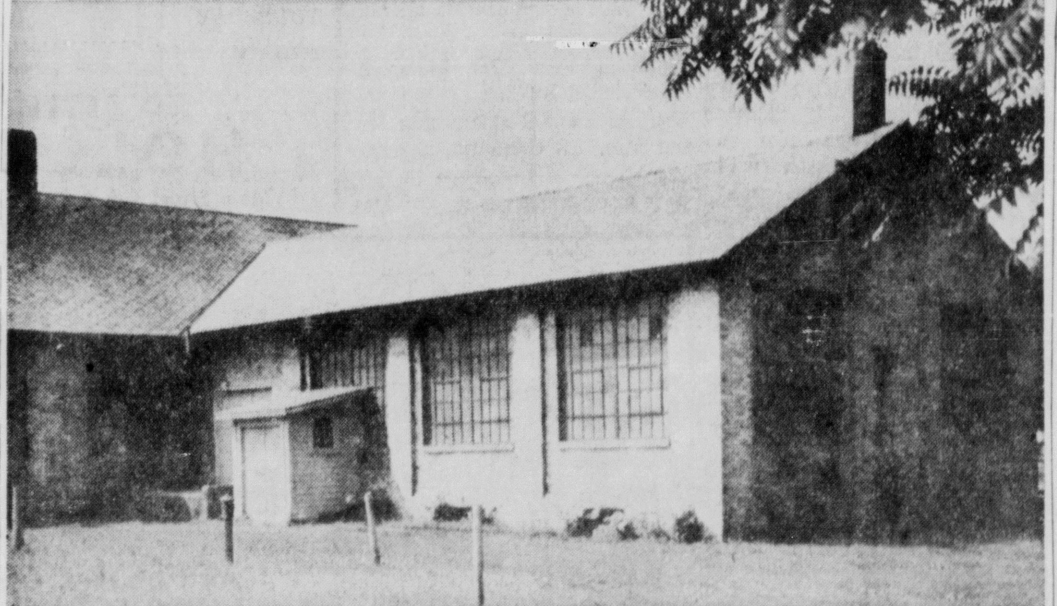

This was Roessler's second such offense this year. He had previously been arrested here last Jan. 20 for driving while intoxicated.

Election Issues Boosted to 32

County Precincts Increased to 165

Three more special questions and issues have been filed with the County Election Board at East Liverpool, boosting to 32 the number awaiting a vote by Columbiana County subdivisions at the Nov. 7 general election.

Hanover Township trustees filed a resolution asking a vote on a new one-mill levy for five years for cemetery maintenance.

Two more proposals were certified to the Columbiana County Board by the Stark County Board — both affecting the Minerva Local School District, which lies in both counties.

The district will vote on a $1,595,000 bond issue to construct and equip a new junior high school and elementary school. A 4.7 mill levy will be required for 20

Judge Warns Franko of Jail

Derisive Remarks Anger Battisti

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Battisti has warned Mayor Frank R. Franko that he will have him jailed if he makes any more derogatory comments about the judge.

The judge's ire was aroused by a radio statement Mayor Franko made Tuesday night after the judge found him in contempt of court and fined him $500 and costs. The judge had sentenced Franko to jail for 10 days, in addition to the fine, but suspended the jail term.

In a note to City Law Director S. S. Fekett Wednesday, Judge Battisti said if there are any more such comments from the mayor he will make Franko serve out his 10-day sentence.

The mayor, in his radio statement, had referred in a derisive

Soviet Blast Located East Of Stalingrad

U.S. May Explode Underground Device Within Two Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration was expected today to give a sympathetic response to an appeal from 25 neutral nations for U.S.-Soviet negotiations to save the world from "the horror of nuclear war."

But officials here said the aggressive Soviet attitude on critical Berlin issues—dramatized by Soviet persistence in exploding nuclear weapons test devices in the atmosphere—discourages hope that negotiations under present conditions can make much progress.

Fourth Nuclear Blast

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced Wednesday night that the Soviet Union had exploded early Wednesday, Washington time, its fourth nuclear test device since last Friday. Evidence picked up by U.S. monitors put the site of the blast as being east of Stalingrad. The AEC said it was about 1,600 miles west of the area of Semipalatinsk in which the three previous explosions occurred.

The force was described by the AEC as being in the low to intermediate range, which means it was far below the 100-million-ton superbomb which Soviet Premier Khrushchev has threatened to build.

Before the AEC made its announcement on the fourth Soviet blast, Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff reported radioactive fallout from the new Soviet tests had been detected in Alaska. He said analysis showed radiation levels at 35 times the average daily levels for August. Dr. Luther L. Terry, surgeon general of the health service, said there was no immediate health danger from the fallout.

U.S. Tests In 2 Weeks

Congressional leaders said the prevailing opinion within the Kennedy administration is that the new Soviet tests are aimed at developing antimissile missiles. And they predicted the United States will fire an underground nuclear blast within two weeks to test a small battlefield warhead and the effectiveness of new detection equipment.

The U.S. decision to resume tests touched off demonstrations Wednesday in London and Copenhagen. London police arrested 120 anti-bomb demonstrators who flopped down on sidewalks near the U.S. Embassy. About 2,500 Danish pacifists picketed the U.S. Embassy in Copenhagen after picketing the Soviet Embassy.

The neutrals' appeal for U.S.-Soviet negotiations was made in letters sent to President Kennedy and to Khrushchev from the 25-nation conference which ended Wednesday in Belgrade, Yugoslavia.

The letter to Khrushchev was delivered in Moscow by Prime Minister Nehru of India and President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana. President Sukarno of Indonesia and President Modibo Keita of

Tammany Hall Future on Line

Election Climaxes Bitter Campaign

NEW YORK (AP)—The future of Tammany Hall as the top political force in the nation's largest city is at stake in a Democratic mayoral primary election today. The campaign has been bitter.

The opponents: Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who has split with the organization and is running for renomination for a third four-year term with the backing of insurgents on an "anti-bossism" platform.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, backed by Tammany, the Manhattan organization, and organization leaders in other boroughs. Their theme is that the insurgents are out to "rule or ruin" the party.

Political pundits figure the outcome could be close.

Clear, cooler weather is forecast for the polling hours, 3 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Pushing the insurgent drive are former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt although they are not seeking office themselves.

Tammany chief Carmine G. DeSapio heads the leaders backing Levitt.

Republicans are hopeful that the Democratic split will enable State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, their unopposed mayoral nominee, to capture City Hall in the Nov. 7 general election.

Such a triumph would be the first for a Republican on a strictly GOP ticket in a century and would give a shot in the arm to Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's state organization.

Deerfield Boy Held For Shooting Father

DEERFIELD — A 14-year-old boy shot his father in the head, over the left eye, with a shotgun last night following an argument over purchase of a tire for the youth's bicycle, the Portage County sheriff's department reported.

Norman Gillespie, 38, of Deerfield, was admitted in fair condition to Robinson Memorial Hospital at Ravenna.

Deputies said the boy shot his father with the latter's 410 gauge shotgun in the living room of their home.

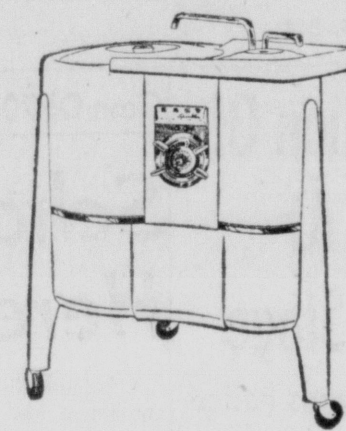

The boy is being held by authority of juvenile court.

Hitting At the Supply Line

What Ohio has done to tighten the legal vise on organized gambling may eventually be adopted by other states.

Three anti-gambling laws enacted by the Ohio legislature at the suggestion of Attorney General Mark McElroy provide enforcement officers with "ammunition" designed to liquidate Ohio racketeers who gross an estimated $350 million annually.

And, that's not pennies, but much of it comes from pennies, nickels and dimes thrown away by easily-duped citizens, like those who play the "numbers" on slips printed by such firms as the Lisbon Sales-book Co. which McElroy and his agents raided Wednesday.

The attorney general said the printing firm was one of the big suppliers for the "numbers" racketeers in the Eastern states and some of the large Midwest cities.

Because of the new Ohio laws, the suppliers are as guilty as the promoters and the "pushers." Heretofore, they were excluded but it is now a felony to print or sell "bug," "numbers" or policy slips. Maximum penalty is three years in prison and a fine of $1,000.

Football parlay cards, which are popular and are printed here and in many other cities, also are the target of Ohio's tougher anti-gambling laws. Only legitimate printing will pay safe dividends from here on in, McElroy has warned.

The Columbiana County raid was the first but it won't be the last in Ohio. Another law hitting horse race bookies becomes effective Sept. 18, and a third dealing with sports event betting goes into operation Sept. 25.

The attorney general has his work cut out for him, but by choice. He authored the new laws which the Ohio legislature passed.

McElroy is to be commended for his aggressive action in trying to rid the state of the silent but sinister leeches that prey on a gullible public.

The attorney general has done a good job but from here on in he shouldn't have to come into cities or counties to carry out the responsibilities of local police or sheriff's departments.

Chalk Up One For Kennedy

A Senate-House conference committee has decided to authorize the Kennedy administration to set up five-year development loan programs in foreign aid. But the chief executive will have to come to Congress each year to get the money.

That represents a compromise between the people who favored an all-out, hands-off, long-range setup for the administration and the people who wanted a tight congressional grip on the pursestrings.

The judgment that the final form of the bill represents a defeat for President Kennedy is negated by the White House announcement that it is wholly satisfactory.

Mr. Kennedy is not the first president who asked for long-range authority for foreign aid. But he is the first who asked for a system of financing that would have bypassed the traditional congressional control over spending through the annual budget request.

AND THAT may be the key to his success in getting the long-range authority that his predecessors failed to get.

In the past the congressional fight over the proposal has been centered on the central idea of giving up the checkrein of annual review of the entire foreign spending program. In the minds of many congressmen, this meant the same thing as giving up the checkrein of annual control over appropriations for the program.

But by throwing in the controversial proposal for Treasury borrowing, the Kennedy managers this year concentrated attention on the financing procedure. There was some talk, as the bill ground through the legislative mill, of trimming back the length of the authority to three or four years instead of the requested five. But, basically, there was not much discussion about whether or not long-range authority should be given.

The idea of getting around annual congressional appropriations by borrowing money for foreign aid was so wild a suggestion to many congressmen that they aimed their big guns at that part of the total proposal.

I was a diversionary tactic. It offered a far-fetched idea as a bargaining point. The administration sacrificed it, not too unhappily, in return for the long-range spending authority which was essentially what it wanted.

WHETHER CONGRESS has given away more than it intended remains to be seen. It has retained its prerogative to take a new look at how the program is progressing before putting more money into it. How diligently it exercises that prerogative in the successive years of the five-year plan will be the real determinant of the degree of the Kennedy administration's victory.

Past history shows that while the foreign-aid request is a good basis for annual congressional headlines, the legislators find it hard to resist the pressure of the White House when it comes time to get down to figures.

It is easy to see how much more effective that pressure is going to be now that the White House can go to Capitol Hill and say: "But you have already given us the authority for this program. You have a moral obligation to back it up with the money."

If the past history of foreign aid plus the White House's acceptance of the new compromise as wholly satisfactory are reliable clues, the Kennedy victory is pretty complete.

Good Recommendation

The Perry and Butler Township constables' recommendation of reduced speed limits on the Depot and Pidgeon Roads south of Salem ought to receive favorable consideration by Columbiana County commissioners.

The frequency of traffic accidents on these roads indicates that there will be others, providing commissioners with sufficient reason for posting the thoroughfares for slower speeds. Traffic volume is quite heavy at times.

Although county commissioners have little reason not to act on the constables' plea, residents of the area also are going to petition for the change.

Once Over

New auto models are out and show many improvements. If this could be said of drivers, it would be wonderful.

Trend to small cars continues. This is also true of small down payments. There are few radical changes, except that some trunk compartments are built to take fewer "dents in depth" from car behind.

Rear-end collisions clearly show safety belts are needed on the baggage but nothing has been done about this in 1962 cars.

Motors are smaller, the idea being to reduce gas consumption between accidents. There are many new gadgets but Detroit is yet to provide a push-button Red Cross kit on dash.

No designer has come out with a "dispenser" type fender container which will make a new fender automatically fall into place when the old one has become dull or ripped off.

In new models, bumpers are placed further inside the car body because of conclusion they don't give any protection in modern high-speed traffic. This is the year of "Auto That Fits the Garage" and in only a few models are wedges, crowbars and carpentry tools necessary to get the flivver under cover.

Many models give more mileage, some 40 miles per gallon. They are popular, due to fact few people any longer believe economy at a pumping station means a loss of prestige.

Long-range lubrication is newest feature of 1962 cars, with some guaranteed to run 30,000 miles without lubrication. This means little to women drivers. They seldom think about greasing the car anyhow but the men think it a good idea.

Speedometers remain about the same, as they are little used except by elderly drivers. Brakes, despite rumors, are not OPTIONAL, the industry refusing to cater to the millions of drivers who never use them.

The trend to push-button windows continues but the question, "What do I do to close one in rain or open one on a hot day when the buttons don't work?" remains unanswered except in a way that encourages profanity at service stations.

Best news is that "fin" changes are few, as the craze to make an auto look like a jet plane has died down. Drivers get the car into the air just as easy without them.

"BETTER RED THAN DEAD!" is the slogan being spread by Commies all over the world, not without the support of some safety-first addicts. But the free world could come up with some more inspiring ones, as for instance, "Better pallbearers than concentration-camp sharers." "Better faith abounding than table pounding." "Better death as a free man than life as a banded-knee man" and "Better hell-fire than barbed wire." Others could include:

Better a green grave than Moscow's slave. Better "For freedom he dies" than "Under hobnailed boots he lies."

Lines revised after summer on crowded beaches:

Mother, may I go in to swim?
If you're nuts enough, my daughter,
Grab yourself a hickory limb
And fight your way to the water!

Secretary Arthur Goldberg is so busy in so many fields he will be doing wonders if he doesn't get confused and order Rudolf Bing to negotiate with auto industry, and tell Walter Reuther he must lead orchestra at the Metropolitan Opera House.

"I want to make it clear I will fight bossism and system of plunder to a finish. Boss rule in New York must go"—Mayor Wagner. It's the delayed forward pass of the decade, but will get votes.

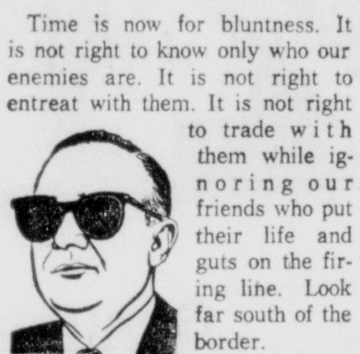

Most amusing headline mixup of year occurred in New York Times the other day when "Kennedy Salutes Theatrical Group" appeared over story of a restaurant, while "Roadhouse Offers Sizzling Fare" appeared over story of a presidential telegram.

Youth swam around Staten Island. That's what we call a genuine revolt against ferry-boat musicians.

Shooting the Rapids

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

Time is now for bluntness. It is not right to know only who our enemies are. It is not right to treat with them. It is not right to trade with them while ignoring our friends who put their life and guts on the firing line. Look far south of the border.

There, the friendship of hundreds of union chiefs and millions of workers—as well as sections of the armed forces—kept Brazil's vastness from being Castroized.

Twice in the past two weeks—though it has gone unnoticed here—secret Communist labor cadres, working with Joao "Jango" Goulart, tried to launch paralyzing general strikes. Twice Brazil's democratic labor movement stood off the Communists and their jet-travelers.

Twice the Goulart secret calls for mass walkouts fizzled. Twice only a handful of dockworkers in the port of Santos and a few suburban commuter trainmen answered the call. But 800 union leaders and their four million followers stayed on the job.

If they had not, Goulart, friend of N.S. Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung, would have won immediately. The army could not have kept the nation operating.

OUR LAND owes much to the various Brazilian Confederations of Labor (they do not have a central AFL-CIO type of organization).

Let's pick this story up at a moment last March when the then President Janio Quadros accused "Jango" Goulart of being a crook and of mismanaging retirement funds.

There was talk of impeaching "Jango". Suddenly, all went quiet on the Brazilian front. But not before Jango had threatened defiance and had warned he would stir the unions into strikes and wild street action.

Many believed Jango could do this. In the previous regime Jango had been vice president, but he also operated out of a top floor office in the Ministry of Labor. He was the Ministry's virtual boss. He therefore wielded power not quite understood by many Americans.

As the power in the labor ministry he controlled the various pension and welfare funds on which the unions depended.

With this power he bullied the labor people. He put Communists in office. He controlled the labor tribunals. Thus he could judge disputes and rule in favor of Communists.

He even helped to dump anti-Communists out of office and set up a Confederation of Airline and Maritime Transport for the Communists.

Thus when he threatened to call out the workers during his quarrel with Quadros, some thought he could disrupt the giant nation.

But, then came the sudden peace between the "Jan-Jans"—Quadros and Goulart issued a statement. Just as suddenly Quadros began attacking the U.S. and wooing the Russians. Goulart soon was to go as his personal representative to Peiping.

THEN THE UNIONS revolted on April 28, in Sao Paulo with open attacks on Quadros and Goulart. On May 14, the anti-Communists ran a mass demonstration in Rio's biggest stadium.

Finally came a national concentration of more than 800 Brazilian labor leaders in Sao Paulo during the last week of July. Speaking for over four million unionize workers, they launched the "National Trade Union Committee for the Defense of Democracy."

They showed Quadros and Goulart they were free working people and that they loathed those who wooed the Soviets. They also sent 16 delegates to the Fifth Continental Congress of the Inter-American Regional Organization of Workers (ORIT) in Rio during the week of Aug. 20.

This federation of 20 million unionists, ranging from Canada to the Falkland Islands, has been bluntly outspoken. Among the U.S. delegates were the AFL-CIO's beloved Latin American specialist, Serafino Romauldi, and William M. Schnitzler, secretary-treasurer and second in command to George Meany at AFL-CIO headquarters.

At ORIT no one pulled any political punches, through Quadros was still president and love-the-Communists - and - hate - the U.S. was official Brazilian governmental policy.

OF CASTRO, the western hemisphere labor parley said, "The people of Cuba are now living under an undeniably cruel dictatorship." On East Berlin, ORIT accused the Russians of "suppressing any manifestation of liberty and maintaining the people in abject slavery."

At ORIT's opening, a tingling drama was played right on the speakers' stage. The delegates were greeted by Carlos Lacerda, governor of the Rio region (Guanabara). Lacerda is the man most responsible for driving out Quadros.

"We do not want," said Lacerda, "the hopes of the Brazilian people . . . to be gained by a policy of capitulations to the Communist trend . . . If it is necessary to reaffirm our ideas in the streets, and fight in the streets, we shall not hesitate to fight to secure these achievements (democratic rights)."

Lacerda poured out his soul to those workers' leaders early in the day—Thursday, Aug. 24. Also he said he would resign so he could "hit the streets," as they say, and arouse the people.

They cheered him. But at 8 p.m. he had them in for a reception in his gubernatorial palace. Then he informed them he would not resign. The leaders said they were with him.

An hour later, he took to the airwaves. Quadros resigned. For once our friends hit N. S. Khrushchev with a hundred political megatons.

Some 15 years of cooperation with the Latin labor leaders, invitations to our land, help and understanding paid off. We appear to have won one at last.

The Shadow Cabinet

British Idea Worth Study by U.S. Parties

By DAVID LAWRENCE

It seems strange, after studying at first hand the way they prepare for a changeover in government in Britain, to come back to America and read dispatches from California reporting that the big story in politics there is whether former Vice President Nixon should run for governor of the state next year.

What seems even stranger are the oft-repeated comments in political circles that New York's governor—Nelson Rockefeller—will try to become the Republican presidential candidate in 1964.

According to the British system, neither Mr. Nixon nor Mr. Rockefeller would get the slightest consideration for the party's nomination unless they were members of the national legislative body in positions of leadership.

What's more, cabinet secretaries would not be appointed to head the big departments of government unless they, too, were members of Parliament.

Talking at length with one of the leading members of Britain's Labor party—which at present is known as the "opposition"—this writer was able to get a penetrating comparison of the American and British systems.

The member interviewed not only makes frequent trips to America and is well acquainted with many members of our Congress but he is likely to have an important post in the national government if the Conservative party is defeated at the polls in the next election.

Basically, as analyzed for this correspondent, neither of the two systems is as effective as it ought to be, but each has certain advantages over the other.

In Britain the members of an opposition party in Parliament do not have the advantage of representation as minority members of legislative committees and thus do not have direct access to information about the operations of the executive branch as is the case in America.

On the other hand, in London they have set up with is called a "shadow cabinet." It maintains an intimate personal relationship with the cabinet of the other party, and there is a custom that information on important matters should be shared informally. It's a kind of reciprocal courtesy on a personal basis.

Again and again the party in power has offered to parallel the so-called "bipartisan" conferences held in the United States between the chief executive and members of the opposite party in Congress.

THIS INFORMALITY has been consistently refused, the theory being that it would impose a certain responsibility on the opposition to keep silent when it might be appropriate in the public interest to speak out.

In its own way and through its personal contacts, therefore, the "shadow cabinet" collects its information. It sets up a member or two for each big department with a staff of assistant secretaries. The arrangement is such that at any moment the "shadow cabinet" can become the real cabinet, and not a day's time is lost in the operations of the national government when there is a changeover.

All this, incidentally, is relatively new, having been started just after World War I, and the system is being constantly improved.

In America, on the other hand, despite all the sincere and earnest efforts at cooperation made between an outgoing and incoming administration, as was the case last autumn, the opportunity to learn in three months about the actual operation of the government is scant.

A "shadow cabinet" is in training in Britain for three years or more, and many of its members have previously served in the national government.

The opposition party itself in England selects the "shadow cabinet." The record of each man is checked by the party leaders, and often a member of the "shadow cabinet" may train first for one post and then another. Final appointment is by the new prime minister, who is not always bound to select the designated member, though he does in the main.

IT SEEMS LOGICAL that men who aspire to the presidency of the United States should be members of Congress who either show by their speeches and statements that they are qualified to discuss subjects of national importance or are high-ranking members of important committees who—on the floor of the House or Senate or in those committees—carry on their interrogation of the other party.

To a degree this is done in committee sessions of Congress now but it is not organized on a party basis or necessarily participated in by party leaders.

All in all, it would seem that if either Gov. Rockefeller or former Vice President Nixon is inspiring to the presidency, each should be living in Washington and give up all thought of serving in a state office. They should be devoting themselves to a day-by-day study of the operations of the national government.

Their task would be to develop a group of leaders, consult with them, and give expression to national party policies. They could, of course, make frequent speeches throughout the country.

The American people would then have some assurance that the potential nominees were intimately acquainted with the operations of the national government and were not simply voicing opinions from a distance as they concentrated on local affairs.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY served in Congress a long time but he never was chosen as leader of his party in either house. In 1960 Vice President Nixon and Sen. Lyndon Johnson, each having served his own party in a position of leadership, would logically have been named to head their respective party tickets if the British system were applied.

While there are many customs in the parliamentary practice in Britain that Americans would not like to see duplicated here, nevertheless the "shadow cabinet" idea is well worth serious study by both major parties in this country.

Rev. Mackey Installation
Scheduled At Greenford

GREENFORD—Installation will be held for Rev. Richard E. Mackey Sunday afternoon at 3. Dr. Herbert W. Veler, president of the Lutheran Synod of Ohio, will officiate. Dr. Charles W. Cassel, father-in-law of Rev. Mackey, will read the liturgy. A reception for Rev. Mackey and family will follow this service in the parish hall.

Rev. Mackey came to Greenford Aug. 20 from an assistant pastorate at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in Toledo. He has been an assistant pastor in Warren and a pastor for two years in Belleville.

The Rev. and Mrs. Mackey and two daughters, Barbara and Mari Beth, are living on Shady Lane in Salem until a new parsonage is finished here in Greenford.

MRS. GEORGE COY was hostess to members of the Needlers Club Wednesday evening. Mrs. John Harbin will be hostess in October.

Mrs. Dan Holloway of Salem recently visited her sister, Mrs. Chester Pettit.

Mrs. Charles Irvin and daughter Joanne and Mr. Allen Lehman of Boston visited recently with their aunt, Mrs. Vianna Dressel.

Mr. and Mrs. John Greenisen (Viva Summers) of Byron, O., spent a day with their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Garth Coy. Emmet Baer, who was hospitalized, is now recuperating at his home.

James Burkholder of Columbus visited his grandmother, Mrs. Lillie Burkholder, and Mr. and Mrs. Garth Coy, over the weekend.

2nd Lt. John Ewing is spending a month's leave from Keesler Air Force, Mississippi. At the end of his leave he will report to the Air Force Base at Stead, Nevada.

Two Drivers
Cited After Accidents

No one was injured but two drivers were arrested as a result of three traffic accidents on area highways Wednesday.

John F. Kennedy, 43, of Youngstown, was cited for failure to stop in the assured distance after his car collided with another auto at the intersection of Rts. 30 and 7, north of East Liverpool, at 2 p.m.

The state highway patrol said Kennedy ran into the rear of a car operated by Alberta Watson, 49, of RD 1, East Liverpool, who had stopped for a stop sign.

A car and a truck received considerable damage when they collided on Rt. 39, four miles west of Wellsville, at 12:15 p.m.

The patrol said the truck, driven by Wilbur Snively, 20, of RD 2, Scio, was making a left turn when it was struck by a car operated by William B. Brown, Jr., 54, of Akron, who was attempting to pass.

Brown was cited for improper passing.

Only minor damage resulted from a two-car mishap on Rt. 62, four miles east of Alliance, at 8:30 a.m.

Ray E. Lewis, 37, of 490 S. Lincoln Ave., was pulling out of a private driveway when his car was struck by an auto driven by Mariam Richards, 37, of Alliance who was making a left turn. Neither driver was cited.

WORKER ELECTROCUTED

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—William Matheny, 43, of Nelsonville in Athens County was electrocuted Wednesday when the guide wires he was holding, leading to a crane boom, came in contact with a 23,000-volt power line.

Another workman, James McGuire, 38, also of Nelsonville, was burned and reported in fair condition at Good Samaritan Hospital here. The accident occurred at a bridge construction site on the Zanesville Expressway west of here.

Arrangements were made for an inter-city party scheduled for Oct. 17.

Members approved a contribution to the United Fund. Mrs. Nell Ogden, Mrs. John Kuenzli, Mrs. Abe Hanzell and Mrs. Pearce comprised the dinner committee, with 22 members in attendance.

A program meeting was announced for Sept. 19.

MISS JULIA VALENTINO of Lisbon was recently feted at a graduation party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Spagnolotta of Lisbon. Mrs. Robert D. Hamilton of Salem was hostess at the party in honor of her sister.

Miss Valentino recently received a masters degree in education from Ohio University.

"This Is Your Life" was the theme of the party, with guests from Salem, Lisbon and Austintown. A silver mortarboard centered the table, which was appointed in green and silver.

The time was spent playing games and visiting.

THE TUESDAY NIGHT Club met at the home of Mrs. Richard Burson of E. 3rd St., with Mrs. Norman Flack as a guest. Prizes in "500" went to Mrs. Peter Lawrence, Mrs. Flack and Mrs. Martin Roth. Birthday gifts were presented to Mrs. Burson and Mrs. John Billiter.

The next meeting will be Oct. 3 at the Newgarden Ave. home of Mrs. Roth.

MRS. SAMUEL LIPPIATT, the former Verona Grady of Washingtonville, was surprised recently by 15 members of the Alena Calkins Missionary Society of the Southeast Friends Church at the home of Mrs. Ray Yocus, Greenford-Lisbon Road, with a miscellaneous shower in honor of her recent marriage.

A miniature bride and bridegroom standing at the altar was the centerpiece of the table laid in white with green and white tapers and appointments of silver and glass. The bride received many gifts.

Verona Grady Becomes Bride of Samuel Lippiatt

Saturday evening at 7:30 in the Southeast Friends Church, Miss Verona Rae Grady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry B. Grady of Washingtonville became the bride of Samuel Wade Lippiatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lippiatt of N. Elsworth Ave.

Rev. George Robinson officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with palms, cymbotium ferns and grape ivy with a vase arrangement of white gladioli, white baby pompons and white carnations. Two seven-branch candelabra were at the altar and white satin pew bows marked the bridal aisle.

Miss DeErla Smith of Leetonia, soloist, sang "Wedding Prayer," "Oh Promise Me" and "Oh Perfect Love." Wayne Dunn of Salem was the organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. She was gowned in Chantilly lace and silk taffeta, floor length, with a bodice of Chantilly lace with sequin and pearl trimmed scoop neckline and a full skirt. Her silk illusion-fingertip length veil was attached to a crown of crystals. She carried a colonial effect bouquet consisting of white baby pompons and feathered chrysanthemums centered with the going-away corsage of white baby pompons tied with bridal white streamers.

Mrs. Barbara Headland, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a dress of jade green silk with satin cummerbund and full skirt with a matching hat of flowers and seed pearls and veil. She carried a colonial effect bouquet of yellow baby pompons and orange delight roses clustered in the center and tied with yellow maline. The bridesmaids were Miss Lois Lippiatt of Detroit, Mich., and Miss Jane Fife of Washingtonville. They wore gowns of Nile green silk with satin cummerbunds and hats of flowers and seed pearls and veils. Their flowers were colonial effect bouquets of bronze baby pompons and yellow roses clustered in the center and tied with bronze maline.

Miss Mary Ellen Hartman of East Palestine, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid in a dress of lavender organza over silk with a matching lavender hat. She carried a bouquet of lavender baby pompons and yellow roses clustered in the center and tied with lavender maline.

Miss Verona Kaye Linn of RD, Lisbon, niece of the bride, was the flower girl in a dress of lavender organza over silk with matching headpiece. She carried a small nosegay of yellow, lavender and bronze pompons and yellow roses tied with lavender satin streamers.

Kevin Lippiatt, nephew of the bridegroom, served as ring bearer.

Paul Lippiatt, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The ushers were Richard Lippiatt, brother of the bridegroom, and Roger Lippiatt, cousin of the bridegroom. Jack Rea, cousin of the bridegroom, was the junior usher.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white baby pompons centered with yellow roses.

The bridegroom's mother wore a sandalwood sheath with olive green accessories and a corsage of white baby pompons centered with yellow roses.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the YWCA. The table was laid in white centered with a four-tier cake and using colors of green and lavender.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Robert Oliver of Wooster, Mrs. Floyd Linn of Lisbon, Mrs. Richard Hartman of East Palestine and Miss Marlene Grady of Washingtonville, all sisters of the bride and Mrs. Richard Lippiatt, sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Paul Lippiatt registered 150 guests from Wooster, Leetonia, Salem, Lisbon, Columbiana, East Palestine, Marietta, Detroit, Mich., Washingtonville, Damascus and Sebring.

The bride is a graduate of Leetonia High School and is employed as a secretary at the Deming Division of the Crane Co.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Salem High School and attended Ohio State University and Le Tourneau Technical Institute at Longview, Texas. He is employed by the Levi Fox Co.

For her honeymoon to an undisclosed destination the bride chose a blue and green print silk dress with blue accessories and the corsage from her wedding bouquet.

The couple will reside at their newly built home at 1520 E. 11th St. when they return from their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lippiatt, parents of the bridegroom, entertained following the rehearsal Thursday evening at Heck's Restaurant in Columbiana.

Y-Teens' Fashion Show Scheduled

"Fall into Fashion" is the theme of the Y-Teen's fashion show to be held Sept. 11 at 8 p.m. at the YWCA.

Back to school fashions will be featured for the junior and senior high and college age girls, with special emphasis on the senior high age group. Sportswear, date dresses and accessories will be shown by the R. S. McCulloch Co. Miss Margaret Null, a senior at Webber College, Babson Park, Fla., majoring in retailing and merchandising, is in charge.

Mrs. Fred Cope will serve as narrator, with the following girls as models: Charlene Keller, Polly Hilliard, Dedra Coy, Nancy Ward, Lois Ulrich, Susan Snyder, Susan Cope, Jackie Jones, Brenda Smith and Dawna Stiver.

New Parenthood Class Is Planned

Registrations are being taken for the seventh series of classes of instruction in pre-natal care being offered to expectant mothers. The session will begin Sept. 20 at the Hannah E. Mullins Nurses Home, 1926 E. State St. Classes are held each Wednesday at 7 p.m. for five consecutive weeks under the sponsorship of the Nurses Alumnae Association of Salem City Hospital. Mrs. Elizabeth Stacey, public health nurse, is instructor for the course, and will be assisted by staff nurses from City Hospital and the Central Clinic. Refreshments are provided by the Women's Auxiliary of Salem Hospitals.

Enrollment is urged as soon as possible and may be done by calling ED 7-8543. The following topics will be discussed at the sessions: "How your baby grows before birth and your way of life during pregnancy," "your food needs," "preparation for labor and delivery," "supplies for the baby" and "needs for your child during development and growth." The course also includes films and a tour of the hospital in which the mother-to-be expects to be delivered.

This course is approved by both state and city health departments and the medical staffs of the local hospitals, and is meant only to supplement, not take the place of, regular visits to their physician. "Education for parenthood" has as its goal the health and happiness of each family member.

There is no charge for the course.

Grandma Moses Turns 101, Eager To Resume Painting

HOOSICK FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Grandma Moses dismisses her birthdays as of no importance—America's favorite painting grandmother turned 101 today. Anna Mary Robertson Moses decreed a quiet family affair, with a bit of cake, for her 2 sons, 11 grandchildren and 31 great grandchildren.

Grandma Moses dismisses her birthdays as of no importance—"I've had 100 of them, that's enough"—but she managed to open and admire her presents well ahead of the actual day. Flowers, a diamond and ruby brooch, a transistor radio, a purple satin birthday dress, candy mints and still more flowers were among the gifts on display in her room in a nursing home here. She's feeling fine, she says, recovered from an illness in May and eager to get back to her paints and turpentine at home in nearby Eagle Bridge. But Dr. Clayton Shaw, whom she has known all his life, puts his foot down on her departure. She hid the stethoscope he left behind one day, and then offered to exchange it for a discharge slip. It didn't work.

"He must be 20 years younger than me," she says with kindly condescension. These days Grandma Moses can't walk without help. But since she is only too likely to jump up and try to fetch something for herself, she is fastened to chair and bed with a white cloth harness looped around her shoulders and waist. She tolerates what she considers the indignity with good humor, but insists it come off when her picture is taken.

Although cheerful, witty Grandma is nurses' pet at the new one-story brick Hoosick Falls Health Center, she doesn't take to hospital life.

She feels slothful staying in bed after 7 a.m. Afternoon naps are a waste of time and, when she does doze off, she twits nurses for letting her sleep too long.

One problem she is pondering is what to do with 21 oil paintings sent her by admirers, now in her attic in Eagle Bridge. All are portraits of Grandma, painted from photographs.

"I look everything from American Indian to Irish, but they're all nice," she said loyally.

TO VOTE ON LEVIES

CANTON, Ohio (AP)— Stark County voters in November will decide the fate of two tax levies—one for a new county home for the aged and the other to finance classes for retarded children.

The county home would cost more than $2 million and would be financed by a 1.3-mill levy for two years. Yield from a two-tenths of a mill three-year levy would provide $150,000 to $175,000 a year for retarded children. County Commissioners Wednesday approved placement of the levies on the ballot.

75 Attend Damascus Ruritan Club Ladies Night Program

DAMASCUS — Ladies Night was observed at the Ruritan Club meeting Wednesday evening at the Methodist Church, with 75 in attendance.

Gerald Steer, chairman of the finance committee, announced that the club will sponsor a chili supper Sept. 23 from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the high school.

County-Wide GOP Rally Scheduled

WELLSVILLE — The Wellsville Republican Club today announced Dr. Tennyson Guyer, a state senator, noted humorist and world traveler, has been obtained as guest speaker for a county-wide rally it will host Friday, Oct. 6. The dinner will be at 6:30 p.m. at the Riverside United Presbyterian Church in Wellsville, Mayor William J. Shoub, city chairman, said.

Dr. Guyer, noted as "Ohio's ambassador of good will," has been called a blend of Will Rogers and William Jennings Bryan. He also has been tagged as the "prince of platformers, master of mirth and America's premier inspirational speaker."

He was named a year ago as the best inspirational speaker in America by the International Platformers' Association.

Sen. Guyer serves as public relations director for the Cooper Tire and Rubber Co. of Findlay. He has been a speaker at every Republican state convention.

The committee in charge includes Shoub, Mrs. Mary Clark, city chairwoman, Atty. James McSweeney, Mrs. Frances Morton, Wayne Rose, Charles Stewart and Raymond Arbaugh.

Kenmar, Union Hold Another Conference

EAST PALESTINE — Another negotiating session of the striking employees with Kenmar Furniture Co. officials was to get under way at 11 a.m. today at the New Waterford Bank building.

Today's meeting is the fourth conducted by a government conciliator. A meeting last week ended in deadlock when the company offered a six-month extension of the old contract, with the union holding out for a year's extension.

The strike is now in its fourth week, with approximately 150 of fice and production workers idled.

E. Palestine Booster Campaign Nets $350

EAST PALESTINE — The local Booster Club's drive collected $350 from approximately 400 members in a house-to-house canvass Wednesday.

The drive will be completed at the Bulldogs' game with Canfield Friday night, when Boosters will solicit new members at a booth in the stadium. Money collected in the drive will go towards the financing of football game films.

501 Persons Get Chest X-Rays Here

A total of 501 persons received chest X-rays Wednesday, the first day of operation of the Ohio Department of Health mobile unit here.

Angelo Vivino, city sanitarian, called the turnout "very good" and said he hopes that everyone in the area, 18 years of age and older, will take advantage of the opportunity to get a free chest X-ray during the unit's three-day visit here.

The mobile unit is located in front of the Strouss-Hirschberg Department Store on S. Broadway. It will be open today from 2 to 5 and 6 to 9 p.m. and Friday from 3 to 9 p.m.

Ain't Wrong To Say 'Ain't' Any More

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — The much-abused term "ain't" has been accepted for Webster's third New International Dictionary, to be published Sept. 28.

The new dictionary, Gordon J. Gallan, president of G. & C. Merriam Co., said Wednesday would say "Ain't is used orally in most parts of the U.S. by cultivated speakers."

Nikita Again Asks German Pact Parley

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev called again Wednesday night for a multinational German peace treaty conference after receiving a message from the Belgrade conference asking him to open peace talks with President Kennedy.

Khrushchev, speaking at a Kremlin banquet in honor of Indian Prime Minister Nehru, made no reference to the message Nehru had brought him from Belgrade.

"On this basis," Khrushchev declared, "the question of the normalization of the situation in West Berlin would be solved. 'Our proposals relating to these problems in no way prejudice the interests of the Western powers,' he asserted once more.

Service Department Worker Is Burned

Oscar Houshour, a city service department employee, escaped a possible serious injury at 11 a.m. today when an oil line broke on one of the city's caterpillar lifts he was operating and sprayed him with hot oil.

The incident took place at the city maintenance and repair shop on W. State St.

Houshour suffered minor burns around his eyes and ears. He was taken to a doctor.

105, ROOTS FOR MARIS

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A Civil War veteran's widow who is 105 today is rooting for the Yankees' Roger Maris to break Babe Ruth's 1927 home run record of 60.

"The Babe was the best," Mrs. Amy Warren said from her rocking chair at a veterans' home in nearby Madison. "But if this young fellow Maris can beat him, then I'm all for him."

Alliance Men In Assault Case To Face Grand Jury

Six Alliance men, charged with assaulting Paul Wait, manager of the Park Drive-In Theater on Rt. 62 east of Alliance, on July 27, waived preliminary hearings in Judge Luther Donbar's North-west County Court here Wednesday and asked to be bound over to the grand jury.

The men involved are Henry Cananico, James Facchini, Robert James, Lewis Myers and Ronald Long, all 19, and Mike Cantwell, 20.

All have been released on $200 bonds after pleading not guilty to charges of creating a disturbance, using profane language and committing assault.

Scheduled hearings in the case were postponed on three occasions. The first hearing, scheduled Aug. 9, was postponed at the request of Michael Tangi, attorney for Wait. Rescheduled for Aug. 16, the hearing was postponed until Aug. 28, this time at the request of John E. Bauknecht of East Palestine, attorney for the six Alliance men.

On Aug. 28, both attorneys asked that the case be dismissed.

When Judge Donbar voiced strong objections to dismissing the case, Bauknecht asked that the men be bound over to the September grand jury. The bonds of $200 was continued in each case.

The alleged incident took place on the night of July 27. Wait told Judge Donbar that the six men were creating a disturbance and using profane language at the Park Drive-In Theater, which is located in Knox Twp. Wait said the men assaulted him when he asked them to leave.

Wait suffered painful head and face injuries in the alleged assault. He gave Judge Donbar no reason for wanting to dismiss the charges.

One of the six men charged in the case, Robert James, the son of an Alliance attorney, has three previous arrests — one on March 27, 1958, for stealing gasoline, another on Feb. 2, 1961, for improper license plates, and one on March 8, 1961, for assault and battery.

Dog That Bit Girl Is Shot By Police

Margaret A. Pappas, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pappas of 518 S. Franklin St., was bitten on the left leg by a stray dog at her home Wednesday at 8:04 p.m.

The black dog with curly hair came out from under a car parked at the rear of the home. The bite broke the skin and police advised Mrs. Pappas to take the child to a physician.

Police attempted unsuccessfully to capture the dog. They shot the animal and turned it over to Angelo Vivino, city sanitarian, who will have it tested for rabies.

KNOX TO SEEK LEVY

EAST LIVERPOOL — Knox Township trustees have indicated to the County Election Board their plan to submit a resolution asking a vote at the Nov. 7 election on a new one and a half mill current expense levy for fire protection.

manner to the way the judge read his decision.

The reason for the contempt citation was an alleged threat by the mayor to bring charges of prejudice against Judge Battisti unless the judge granted a continuance in a case involving former Civil Service Commission Chairman Paul J. Fleming. Fleming was appealing his firing by the mayor.

Blast

Mali are due here next Tuesday to formally present the appeal to Kennedy.

U.S. officials withheld formal comment pending a detailed study of all the actions of the conference and a determination of the best way for the United States to reply.

Interested in Talks

But they emphasize that the Washington government is interested in starting negotiation with the Soviets on Berlin and German peace treaty questions in the hope of finding a peaceful solution.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, back in Moscow after a Western European vacation, has instructions to discuss the Berlin situation with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in the near future.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk plans to meet with Gromyko in connection with the opening of the U.N. General Assembly in New York Sept. 19. But Western authorities have no indication yet whether Gromyko will attend the assembly.

The United States is cold toward the implied demand for a summit meeting but direct negotiations apparently could be conducted in the early stages by ambassadors or foreign ministers representing the two top men.

Kennedy has taken the position that a summit conference to negotiate on Berlin should be carefully prepared in advance and the preparation should provide some evidence that the conference would be successful in producing a solution.

At present officials here are still confident in spite of what they term Khrushchev's use of "atomic blackmail" through the resumption of nuclear testing that the Soviet Union and the Western powers will get into negotiations eventually. The prevailing estimate as to time, however, is that aside from sounding out operations, Khrushchev may not want to negotiate until the end of the year.

Diplomats say they understand that he prefers to wait until after a Communist party meeting in Moscow in mid-October, meanwhile trying to break down Western resistance to his Berlin demand by talk of war and demonstrations of Soviet nuclear power.

RETURNS FROM MEETING

Salem Police Chief Martin Lutsch was among the 30 chiefs of police from northeastern Ohio who attended the district chiefs of police conference held in Barberton Wednesday.

Tom Miller Of Leetonia Quits Board

LEETONIA — Village Council accepted the resignation of Cemetery Board member, Tom Miller, at its meeting Wednesday night. Mayor Ralph Kennedy announced he will name a successor to Mr. Miller, who had served on the board about 20 years. His resignation is effective Oct. 1.

Permission was granted to the Board of Public Affairs to borrow $5,000 from the sewer department for the water department, at a rate of one per cent interest for five years. This money will be used to finance the digging of wells on the Clarence Bricker property and the McKeeffrey farm.

Several new hydrants and many repairs are needed on the South Side, according to a survey made recently by the fire department. This matter was put into committee for further study.

Clerk M. P. Burick reported on the recent budget hearing with county officials, at which time it was announced that the financial picture of the village is the best in several years.

Council authorized the purchase of 100 ton of ashes for winter road care.

Revenue received since the last meeting included $215, parking meter receipts and $242, fines and violations.

Those attending the meeting were Councilmen Dale McCormick, Dan Cullinan, Chester Whitacre, Elby Morris, Orin Deffenbaugh and Joseph Weikart, Street Commissioner Richard Kleinknecht and Solicitor Edward Greenamyer.

that the Lisbon company was "the third largest numbers racket supplier in the country." The firm did $150,000 business a year, he said.

Also confiscated were company records which McElroy said included thousands of invoices giving names of customers in 15 states.

A new state law makes it a felony to print numbers slips.

The attorney general said the printing plant, employing 9 persons, turned out 20,000 books of betting slips a day. Each 2-by-6 it contains 50 numbered sheets in triplicate. He said the books were sold for $12.95 per case of 250 pads.

The Suftrins denied in Pittsburgh that they were operating an illegal business.

Two men and four women were at work when the raiding party arrived at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday. A press running off the "bug" slips was stopped immediately as Assistant Attorney General James W. Gleason yelled "this is a raid." Acting Plant Manager David Jamison later closed the shop. The plant manager was identified as M. J. Schildmeier of Pittsburgh.

years to liquidate the issue, the certification said.

The same district will vote on a renewal of a 2.6-mill levy with an increase of .4-mill to constitute a 3-mill levy for five years for operating expenses.

All of Columbiana County's West Township is part of the Minerva School District.

Meanwhile, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the Election Board, said a five-member committee has the right to name another candidate to fill the ballot vacancy created by the sudden death Saturday of Frank Colella, who was seeking re-election as a member of the New Waterford Board of Trustees of Public Affairs. Mr. Colella was stricken fatally while attending the Mahoning County Fair at Canfield.

The five-member nominating committee which Mr. Colella named on his non-partisan petition has the right to designate a new candidate. It is comprised of Joseph Taylor, Bert Keck, Lois Merriman, Jessie McCune and Esther Bretz.

The committee has until five days prior to the election to fill the vacancy, but the Election Board hopes it will act quickly because it is holding up printing of the New Waterford ballot, O'Hanlon said.

Meanwhile, the number of precincts in Columbiana County today rose officially to 165, an increase of 13.

At a recent hearing on establishment of the 13 new precincts, objections were raised in several instances to the lines set down for new precincts in Salem; Butler Township and Columbiana Village.

The Election Board made the changes and then provided for another 10-day waiting period for protests, as the law requires. The 10-day period passed yesterday without any objections being filed, so establishment of the precincts became official.

The board has ordered equipment for all the new precincts in preparation for the November election, O'Hanlon said.

Charter Commission To Convene Tonight

The Salem Charter Commission will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Council Chambers at City Hall.

Commission Chairman Lozier Caplan said the group will discuss suggestions and recommendations made by citizens at the public meeting on the proposed charter held Aug. 28.

Caplan said he will announce a date for the second public hearing at tonight's session.

TO INTERVIEW APPLICANTS

LISBON — A special meeting will be held Monday evening by the Columbiana County Health Board to interview applicants for the plumbing inspector position formerly held by Earl Wang of North Georgetown who resigned Sept. 1.

The board has eight applications, according to Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner.

Experienced Struthers Goes Against Salem Friday

Locals Outweighed 6 Pounds Per Man In Season Opener

By CARL NANDRASY

It will be experience vs inexperience Friday night at Reilly Stadium when the Salem Quakers football team meets the Struthers Wildcats headon in the season opener for both schools.

Loaded with nine lettermen in the starting lineup, four who saw wholesale action last year, Head Coach Edward Strauss of the Wildcats is somewhat optimistic that his gridders will definitely better the dismal 2-8 record of last year.

On the other hand, Salem football mentor Blaine Morton, plagued with the graduation loss of 10 starters last year and having only four lettermen back to build the 1961 force around, will be heading into the fray with a relatively "green" outfit.

Morton, who has been quite disappointed at the Quakers' showing in practice sessions and scrimmages thus far, is looking for Struthers to be one of the locals' stiffest opponents this year.

With the Wildcats employing a multiple offense built around a Split-T formation, Morton believes Friday night's opponents will display as wide open a game of football as may be witnessed by the Quakers this year.

IF PREDICTIONS are right, the Wildcats will pattern their offense around burly, hard-hitting fullback Lee Roy Lewis. Lewis, a 219-pound senior letterman, is touted to have speed and drive ala Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns.

Another senior letterman, 185-pound Ron Lynn, will do the Wildcats signal-calling while operating in the quarterback slot. Lynn received valuable experience last year when he was moved up to the first team during the last half of the season in preparation for this year.

Fighting it out for the left half-back position this year at Struthers are junior Ed Carcelli, 155-pounds, and senior George Smith, 140-pounds. Both are lettermen, with Carcelli playing full-time last year. Although light in weight, both are considered speedy and hard to stop in the open.

Holding down the other half-back slot will be Jim Eisenbraun, a 170-pound senior. Eisenbraun didn't win a letter last year but has come along in fine style this year, according to Coach Strauss.

STRUTHERS WEAKEST spots when regarding experience seems to be the end positions. Two non-lettermen with little actual combat will be tested in these slots by Coach Strauss Friday night. Left end will be sophomore Jesse Sanders, 150-pounds, and who stands 6-1. The right end chores will be held down by another sophomore, Tom Macejko, 170-pounds, 6-0.

The Wildcats tackle positions will be handled by two senior lettermen who each weigh more

Yanks Open 5-Game Series With Indians

NEW YORK (AP)—All eyes will be on New York's Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle as the Cleveland Indians, now mathematically out of contention for the American League pennant square off against the Yankees tonight in the first of a five-game series.

The Indians' 9-4 loss Wednesday to the Boston Red Sox portends ill tidings for Cleveland against the power-laden Bombers and the "M" boys, in particular.

Left-hander Dick Stigman (2-3) is Manager Jimmie Dykes' choice to pitch the first game against the Yanks. Right-hander Ralph Terry (12-2) will hurl for New York.

The Indians' performance Wednesday in Boston was punctuated with defensive misplays and weak pitching by Jim Perry, who gave up 13 hits and eight runs before leaving in the sixth inning.

Johnny Temple got four of Cleveland's 11 hits off Don Schwall, a top candidate for rookie of the year honors with a 1-4 record.

Cleveland loaded the bases with no outs in the first inning, but scored only one run, on Willie Kirkland's fly ball before Schwall fanned Woodie Held and got John Romano on a force out.

The Indians made it 3-0 with a pair of runs in the second, but the Red Sox tied in the third on Carl Yastrzemski's three-run homer and went ahead with a run in the fourth thanks to a throwing error by Temple, a bunt and a topped ball which Perry fielded only to find no one covering first.

In the fifth, with two on and two out, Temple booted a ground ball to make it 5-3.

The Sox sewed it up with three runs on four hits in the sixth before Bill Dailey came in to put out the fire.

Reds Host Cardinals In 3-Game Series

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds returned home today hoping the St. Louis Cardinals will be easier to beat on Crosley Field than they were at Busch Stadium.

The Cardinals split a two-game series in St. Louis by plastering the National League leaders 11-5 Wednesday night as Manager Fred Hutchinson had to use five Red pitchers against Larry Jackson (12-9).

Idle tonight, the Reds begin a three-game set against the Redbirds under the lights Friday.

Jim Maloney (6-7) lost Wednesday night after starter Joey Jay failed in his bid for his 20th win. Maloney relieved Jay in the first inning with two men on, one out and two runs already scored.

The Reds' prospects looked brightest in the sixth when they went ahead for the second time on Jerry Lynch's 12th home run. There was no one on base when the pinch hitting ace connected for his second four-bagger since starting to play left field regularly two weeks ago.

Since then, he has been hitting at a .382 pace, living up to his joking denial that he is not baseball's best pinch hitter.

"What do you mean—pinch hitter?" he demanded. "I'm the best hitter in baseball. (Stan) Musial was, but now it's me. Of course, I've got to admit that (Vada) Pinson is running a close second, but he's got the good legs."

The good-legged Pinson got a double Wednesday night, but Lynch's home run and double more than matched that.

The Reds got going after the Cards scored twice on a double, a wild pitch and two singles in the opening inning.

Frank Robinson started the second inning with a single, got all the way to third on an error and scored on Lynch's double. Lynch tallied on Gene Freese's double, and Freese was forced home when Jackson walked the next three batters before retiring the side.

St. Louis tied it, 3-3, in the second on one hit and two errors by Eddie Kasko. But the Reds went ahead again on Pinson's double and Gordie Coleman's single in the third. The Cardinals tied it 4-4 in the fourth on two singles and a fielder's choice.

After Lynch's homer, the Redbirds went ahead 6-5 in the sixth on two more Cincinnati errors, a walk and two singles. Bill Henry replaced the luckless Maloney.

The Cardinals cinched it with a five-run burst against Jim Brown in the eighth featuring three doubles and two singles.

High School Grid Teams Open Season This Weekend

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high school gridders are ready to dash into the 1961 football campaign with their usual vim and vigor.

More than 25,000 youngsters are on the 671 scholastic squads, many of which open pigskin warfare this weekend. Practice started Aug. 18, and Friday is the earliest date for a regular game or preview.

Many of the teams will zoom through 10 or 11-game schedules before the state championship is decided in The Associated Press poll of sports writers in late November. Others play as few as eight contests.

Massillon won the state title a year ago—but there could be a big chance this time despite the fact the usually terrific Tigers are touted as being "loaded" with talent.

Last Saturday Coach Leo Strang's Stark Countians staged a practice scrimmage against 1960 runner-up Niles McKinley and reports from the battle scene were that the Red Dragons outclassed the Tigers 12-0, piled up a 17-6 edge in first downs, and outgained Massillon 217 yards to 126.

Toledo Macomber was drubbed 24-0 by both Massillon and Niles in the round-robin affair staged before 5,000 fans.

The first look at the top-notchers against regular-season foes comes this weekend as East Liverpool's Pottery meet Niles on the latter's gridiron Saturday, and Massillon entertains Newark—a brand new foe—Friday night.

Springfield South's Wildcats, nearly always among the Top Ten in the weekly Associated Press ratings, will be idle this week. But Hamilton Garfield, rated the favorite over Springfield in the Greater Ohio League race, opens against Fairfield Friday. Coach Lou Florio's Hamilton team, with an 8-3 record last year, has a host of returning lettermen.

Glenn (Tiger) Ellison, who has a 107-43-8 record for 15 seasons at Middletown, sends his Middies against Zanesville Friday in another big one. Portsmouth's Trojans, with the Class AA basketball title tucked away, go against Charleston, W.Va., with only six seniors on the squad as Howard Baughman faces a rebuilding year.

Until a few games have been played the championship picture will be a bit hazy. But one thing is certain in the early season contests—a host of new names will flash across the scholastic screen, turning expected setups into upsets.

With ancient rivals to overcome, and with the state championship and All-Ohio berths waiting at the end of the trail, there's plenty of incentive for the kids to give the campaign their all.

Last year's Top Ten in the AP ratings, in order, were Massillon, Niles, Alliance, Sandusky, Dayton Colonel White, Cincinnati Purcell, Marion Harding, Toledo Central, Troy and Port Clinton.

Only two of those had made the 1959 Top Ten—so look for a lot of new faces again in 1961.

LA Downs Giants; Advance On Reds

By The Associated Press
The Los Angeles Dodgers have scrapped back to within one game of Cincinnati's stumbling Reds in the National League pennant race.

After blowing a 3-0 lead against San Francisco Wednesday night the Dodgers went to work, coming from behind with a five-run eighth for a 9-5 victory.

Cincinnati lost to St. Louis 11-5. While the Dodgers swept their four-game series with San Francisco, still hopeful Milwaukee beat Philadelphia 1-0 as Warren Spahn nailed his 306th career victory, most ever in one league by a left-handed pitcher. The Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh 6-2.

The Dodgers got started on the big eighth when Frank Howard, who had singled home two runs in the first, rifled a single that almost knocked down losing reliever Stu Miller (10-4) of the Giants. Willie Davis went in as a pinch runner, stole second and scooted on to third on catcher Ed Bailey's wild peg. Pinch hitter Norm Larker brought him in with a single, tying it 5-4, and John Roseboro followed with a pinch double that gave Los Angeles the lead. An error, a walk, Wally Moon's two-run single and a force out by Snider brought in the other three. Snider also hit a solo home run in the fifth.

Roger Craig (5-6), fourth of six Dodger pitchers, was the winner. He faced just one man after Larry Sherry had to leave in the eighth because of arm trouble. The Giants wiped out the Dodgers' 3-0 lead with home runs by Jim Davenport, Felipe Alou and Orlando Cepeda off starter Sandy Koufax.

St. Louis twice came from behind against the Reds after knocking out their ace right-hander, 19-game winner Joey Jay, with two runs in the first inning. A two-run sixth on two of the Reds' four errors, Stan Musial's sacrifice fly and Ken Boyer's single, put it away and beat reliever Jim Maloney (6-6).

Right-hander Larry Jackson (12-9), a winner in nine of his last 10 decisions, settled down after walking three men on 12 consecutive pitches in a three-run third and held the Reds to one run, a homer by Jerry Lynch, over the last six innings.

Spahn (18-12), closing in on his 12th season of 20 or more victories, beat Eddie Plank's record of 305 victories, all in the AL, by blanking the Phils on three singles. It was Spahn's 54th career shutout.

The Braves, now six games in back of Cincinnati, had five hits, scoring in the first inning off John Buzhardt (5-16) on a walk, Ed Mathews' single and Hank Aaron's sacrifice fly.

Maris Socked 28 Homers On Road Trips

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Maris, a man of definite opinion, took issue today with those who claim that Yankee Stadium, a paradise for left-handed hitters, has been helpful in his bid to break Babe Ruth's record.

"I agree that this park has got to help a left-handed hitter like myself," he conceded. "But I still think I'd have hit just as many, or nearly as many, if I were still playing with Kansas City."

"Check my home runs and you'll find that I have hit more home runs on the road than at home. I don't know how many I hit in other parks this year but I know last year I hit 26 or 27 of my 39 on the road."

The records bear that out. Roger slammed No. 54 of the season at Yankee Stadium Wednesday as Whitey Ford won his 23rd with a five-hit 8-0 decision over Washington. The victory increased the New York Yankees' first place lead over Detroit to eight games.

Maris's homer, putting him seven games ahead of Ruth's pace when the Babe slammed 60 in 1927, was Rog's 26th at Yankee Stadium. The other 28 have been hit in foreign fields. Mickey Mantle, who walked twice but failed to hit any out of the park, has hit 29 of his 51 in enemy territory.

Maris' homer No. 54 was caught by teammate Bob Hale in the Yankee bullpen. The reserve first baseman presented it to Roger for his collection.

"I began saving them after I reached the 40's," Maris explained. "Every homer I hit after 40 I kept thinking might be my last one so I figured I might as well save them."

Maris writes the date and number on each home run ball that is returned to him. He didn't know how many he had because he gave some of them away to friends.

"No more," he said. "From now on, I'm going to keep every one of them."
He conceded they might be harder to come by from now because "those pitchers are changing up on me a lot more now. I'm not getting many pitches over the plate. They're either outside or inside. I really don't expect any down the pipe. When one comes, I'm surprised."

FOOTBALL QUEEN SELECTIONS — Among this bevy of beauties is the 1961 Salem High School football queen, who will be crowned by last year's queen, Rosemarie Shoe, pictured center, at the Quakers' game with Struthers Friday night. A vote of the senior high student body has secretly selected the queen with the other six nominees to act as the queen's court.
Seated clockwise from the left are Peggy Hess, Molly Malloy, Diane Dawson, Susan Mathews, Sue Rush, Joyce Mallory and Brenda Smith. All seven girls are seniors.

Hot Stove Leagues

National Cleaners turned six hits and eight walks into 13 runs as they rolled by Petrucci's 13-3 to secure second place in the Hot Stove League All-Star Games previously scheduled for Saturday have been rescheduled for Sunday. Times and fields remain the same.

Class G standings. Both teams had 12-5 records going into last night's contest.

The winners showed across four runs in the fourth inning to erase a 2-0 Petrucci lead and were never headed as they added runs in the three remaining innings. The losers scored twice in the second and once in the fourth.

Rick Liber was given the win as he allowed only three hits and three walks. Larry Kibler absorbed the loss.

Kibler slammed two of the loser's hits and Liber aided his own cause by smacking a homer and a double for the winners.

Stepanic's, Fenton Bar, Italian Club Gain In Tourney

Niles Fenton Bar, Stepanic's Tavern and Salem Italian Club advanced with wins in the Salem Invitational Softball Tournament at Kelley Wednesday night.

John Beaver of the Niles team proved the difference as he tossed a no-hitter at the New Brighton Eagles for a 9-1 win. Niles got four runs in the first inning on two hits and four errors by the Eagles. They added five more runs in the sixth inning. The Eagles' lone run came in the seventh inning without a hit.

Stepanic's, behind the two-hit pitching of Don Bruderly, shut out Niles Reese 4-0. The winners pounded out eight hits and pushed across single runs in the last four innings to take the decision.

The Italian Club posted two runs in the first inning and was never headed in its 5-1 win over Cuyahoga Falls McGowan-Reid. The winners added three more runs in the sixth inning when John Chafflin homered with two aboard. The loser's lone run came in the second inning.

In tonight's action, Niles Fenton Bar will meet East Liverpool East End at 6:30 p.m.; McGowan-Reid takes on Warren Rods' Bar at 7:30 p.m.; Beaver Falls Williams Furniture tangles with Salem Old Dutch at 8:45 p.m., and Akron Step 3 plays Warren Adept Machinery at 9:30 p.m.

Ford Wins 23rd Game As Yanks Bomb Senators 8-0

By The Associated Press

Six more. Two every five games. That's all it will take now for Roger Maris to hit 60 home runs and tie Babe Ruth's long elusive record.

After belting No. 54, for his first hit in 17 at bats, as the New York Yankees clobbered Washington 8-0 Wednesday, Maris is seven games ahead of Ruth's record pace of 1927.

Mickey Mantle, who has paired with Maris for half of the Yankees' AL record setting 210 homers this season, was 0-for-2, walking twice Wednesday and now is one game and one home run behind Ruth's pace. Mantle has hit 51.

Yanks Hit Five Homers

Pushed to the background as Maris' 54th set off an awesome display of five Yankee home runs Wednesday was the fact that Whitey Ford became the first left-hander to win 23 games in the AL since 1952 and that New York powered eight games ahead of idle Detroit.

The Chicago White Sox beat Minnesota twice, 6-3 and 4-2 in 10 innings, and Boston clipped Cleveland 9-4 in the only other AL games scheduled.

Maris' solo home run, his ninth against Washington, broke up a scoreless duel between Ford (23-3) and Tom Cheney (1-3) and got the Yankees started on a five-run fourth inning after two were out. John Blanchard belted two. Bill Skowron and Bob Hale hit the other home runs.

Ford Fans Seven

Ford allowed five hits and struck out seven. The win reduced the Yanks' magic number to 16—any combination of New York victories or Detroit defeats totaling 16 clinches the flag.

The White Sox banged 13 hits, one a homer by Nellie Fox, and beat Pete Ramos (10-17) as Juan Pizarro (135) won his seventh in a row in the first game at Minnesota, a replay of Tuesday's 3-3 tie. Two unearned runs in the 10th won the second game for the Sox and Don Larson (7-1). Camilo Pascual (12-15) was the loser.

Rookie Carl Yastremski drove in four runs, three with a homer, for Boston. Rookie Don Schwall (14-4) kept the Indians in check although allowing 11 hits. Jim Perry (9-13) lost it.

Iowa, Ohio State Probable Big Ten Football Champs

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Iowa and Ohio State shape up as the strongest claimants to the Big Ten football title this season.

Michigan State, which doesn't play either of the co-favorites, is considered the most dangerous threat. Wisconsin and Michigan could be the major surprises.

Minnesota — 1960 co-champion with Iowa — Northwestern, Purdue, Indiana and Illinois appear to be relegated to second division.

Jerry Burns, who takes over for Forest Evashevski as Iowa coach, inherits 20 letters, including eight starters. Agility in the line will be supported by one of the country's fastest backfields — quarterback Wilburn Hollis, Larry Ferguson, Joe Williams and Sammie Harris.

Ohio State has All-America fullback Bob Ferguson returning and junior Bob Klein and sophomore sensation Paul Warfield at halfback. Another hefty line is flanked by a pair of great ends — Sam Tidmore and Tom Perdue.

Michigan State has 26 letter-winners, including 17 seniors. Commack, N.Y.—Lino Rendon, 167, Havana, knocked out Rodolfo Diaz, 175½, Argentina, 1.
Reno, Nev. — Terry Smith, 158½, Sacramento, Calif., stopped Johnny Page, 158½, Las Vegas, Nev., 6.
Manila — Leo Espinosa, 119, Philippines, defeated Ronnie Jones, 118, Chicago, 10.
Phoenix, Ariz. — Manuel Elias, 119, Phoenix, defeated Pina Barahara, 123, Mexico, 10.

American Reds Dance As Russians Change Tunes

Soviet 'Flip-Flops' Usually Embarrass U.S. Communists

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet flip-flops—there have been some beauties—are done with sheer gall and handy, if unconvincing, sanctimonious explanations. But in each case, as now, Moscow acts without visible embarrassment.

The ones who get embarrassed are the Communist party members outside Russia, particularly American Communists, but only temporarily. When the Soviet line is suddenly changed, they have to quick-step to join the new line.

That's happening now with the American Communists. They've been strangely silent since last week's Moscow announcement that Russia, which for three years suspended nuclear tests and said it opposed them, would resume testing.

When they collect their wits, the American party members will approve as they have approved one Russian shift after another through the years. Take a look at some of the classic flip-flops, by Russian and American Communists:

During the Hitler years up to 1939 Stalin was the enemy of Nazi fascism. In those years American Communists called for a "united front" against Germany. William Z. Foster, American party head, who died last Friday in Moscow, was urging the United States to end its isolation and jump into the European power struggle.

In August, 1939, Hitler and Stalin signed their nonaggression pact. Within a month Hitler started World War II and he and Stalin carved up Poland.

Communist party members here and in France and England were stunned. They soon got in line. American Communists began urging the United States to stay out of war, cooked up the slogan "The Yanks are not coming," and opposed American defense preparations.

After the Nazis smashed the nonaggression pact with Stalin by invading Russia on June 22, 1941, the American Communists reverted overnight to the "united front" against nazism.

The American Communists became so carried away with the idea that, under the leadership of Earl Browder, they changed their name to the "American Political Association." They called themselves a "nonpartisan association of Americans."

This was all right with Stalin until 1945, with the war in Europe almost over, he decided, although this country didn't realize it at the time, to drop the "united front" cooperation with the West and begin the cold war.

There was a simple explanation for this. Hitler was crushed and Stalin didn't need Western help which might be an inconvenience in taking over Eastern Europe. But Browder didn't understand.

He was still living under the illusion that harmony with capitalism was what communism wanted. Stalin had so much contempt for the American Communist party he didn't even notify it directly that the line had changed.

He got a French Communist leader, Jacques Duclos, to do it in a letter he published in a Communist paper in Paris. Duclos ridiculed the absurd spectacle of American Communists cooperating with capitalism.

In this way the American party members got the word about the new flip-flop. In June 1945 they announced a new "Marxist" policy to bring to an end the "period of collaboration with the current political and economic setup of the United States."

Browder, on the rocks, denounced this as "bohemian anarchism." Foster, Stalin's hand-picked disciple of the new line, denounced Browder as a "bourgeois reformist." The Communists' wartime "political association" voted itself out of existence and once again became the American Communist party.

Foster was named the new party boss—although Eugene Dennis, who died last Jan. 31, became the real one and Browder was thrown out.

But Communist party members everywhere—except perhaps in Red China—had their greatest convulsion on Feb. 24, 1956 when Russian communism made the greatest and most sudden switch in its history.

On that day Nikita Khrushchev, now premier, denounced Stalin, who had died in 1953, as a monster and murderer with a list of crimes behind him big enough to shock the world. Khrushchev even suggested that Communist parties outside Russia might work out their own road to socialism.

All over the world—but particularly in this country—Communist party members beat their breasts and tried to understand what the new flip-flop meant. The American Communists, in the Daily Worker of June 7, 1956, confessed: these crimes had been committed (although it was clear to practically everyone else that Stalin had been slaughtering people for years). Yet, there was reputable evidence had we but listened... We were wrong, terribly wrong.

Some Communists—particularly in Poland and Hungary—thought maybe Khrushchev really meant to let them have a little more say-so on their own. He squelched that idea in a hurry by visiting Poland in 1956 and threatening force if the Poles got frisky. They subsided in a hurry.

But it was in Hungary that he really showed he wasn't relaxing anything. He sent in Russian tanks to slaughter the Hungarian rebels. This bloody action again threw Communist party members outside Russia into a tizzy. It didn't last long. Everywhere now they are under rigid Moscow control.

In each flip-flop the Communist party in this country lost members. Most of them were probably basically sentimentalists. The hard-core Communists stayed in the party whose low point was 7,500 members in 1930, whose high point was 80,000 in 1944 and whose membership now is about 10,000.

The new boss of the American party, Gus Hall, the successor of Dennis, has kept quiet recently, perhaps until he can digest the new Russian line on nuclear tests. Moscow says it must resume tests because of the Allies' threatening attitude.

Two Members Of Civil War Unit Resign

CLINTON, N.Y. (AP) — Two members of the federal Civil War Centennial Commission, including the chairman, Ulysses S. Grant III, have resigned amid reports of friction within the commission over the demotion of its executive director.

Grant, grandson of the Union Army's Civil War commander, said Wednesday he had resigned because of the serious illness of his wife, the former Edith Root. Because of her illness, he said, he could not travel widely on commission business.

In Washington, the White House confirmed that Grant and Vice Adm. Stuart H. Ingersoll of the Naval War College had resigned from the commission. Pierre Salinger, press secretary, would neither make public their letters of resignation nor discuss their reasons.

There were reports that Grant's resignation stemmed from a recent commission action demoting Karl S. Betts from executive director to special consultant.

The friction on the 25-member commission reportedly followed racial differences at a centennial observance in April at Charleston, S.C.

President Kennedy ordered business sessions transferred to the Charleston Naval Base after the New Jersey delegation protested holding them in a segregated Charleston hotel.

FOUND NOT GUILTY

LISBON — Bennie Corbisello, operator of a tavern in Wellsville, was found not guilty at a trial before Juvenile Court Judge Louis Tobin Wednesday of contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old Wellsville boy by selling him intoxicating liquor.

Fifteen witnesses were heard. Judge Tobin said the state failed to prove its case.

Guests of Mrs. Minnie Miller and family Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. William Slosser of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Chiggers will attach to a person and stay there for three or four days.

Mt. Union Gifts For Fiscal Year Total $671,958

ALLIANCE — Mount Union College received $671,958 in total gifts for the fiscal year ended June 30 about $13,000 less than the record $685,329 given Mount Union in 1959-60, according to President Carl C. Bracy. Included in the amounts given this year were $349,522 for buildings, $173,846 for current operations, $145,590 for endowment, and $2,000 for student loans.

Dr. Bracy indicated $352,246 was contributed by alumni and friends, while corporations gave $281,712 and the conferences and boards of the Methodist Church contributed $101,000.

Commenting on what he called "a generous report," Dr. Bracy expressed appreciation to the hundreds of individuals, corporations and churches which have given generously for the support of Mount Union College.

"This kind of financial assistance," he said, "carries with it both opportunity and responsibility. We shall do our best to continue to merit the confidence which has been placed with us."

3 Granted Probation By Judge Buzzard

LISBON — Three persons involved in the burglary of the home of Lawrence Wolfgang on Lower Elkton Road last Feb. 25 received five years probation Wednesday from Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

They are Miss Mary F. Walker, 20, of New Springfield, RD 1, Marshall E. Paracci, 24, and Charles W. Cooper, 22, both of Youngstown.

Both men pleaded guilty to the burglary after they were apprehended by Youngstown police, but Miss Walker was found guilty by a petit jury May 11 and then requested probation.

The trio must make restitution for damages to the Wolfgang home.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Meeting Yields No New Rheumatism Cures

The recent meeting of the American Rheumatism Assn. yielded a number of interesting observations. Unfortunately none that offered more than symptomatic relief to those who are presently afflicted with joint disturbances. Here are some of the highlights of the meeting:

Although many patients with arthritis feel increasing discomfort and pain in bad weather and note improvement when the air becomes hot and dry, efforts to confirm these observations in a scientifically controlled climate chamber proved unavailing.

Ten patients spent a total of 242 days in the chamber. The effects of varying temperatures and barometric conditions were studied. But no single climatic factor could be shown to produce any consistent change in the affected joints. Nevertheless, the experimenters still believe (as do most arthritics) that weather conditions influence both joint swelling and joint pain.

The child who does not develop a heart complication during the course of an acute attack of rheumatic fever will probably not develop this complication at a later time.

Therefore, the physicians of New York's Irvington House do not recommend a long period of bed rest for the youngster whose heart appears normal during and immediately after the acute attack. Thus both patient and parents are relieved of the drain of extended convalescence and of the fear of future difficulties.

A newly developed compound,

American Cyanamid Co.) warns that (1) the compound is not available for commercial distribution, so don't ask your doctor to prescribe or obtain it for you; (2) the reported results are based on too few experiences on which to base definite conclusions; and (3) reports issued by investigators, other than those who addressed the meeting, are less hopeful than those presented by the original group.

So, if you come across any breathless reports of a "miracle drug," better not let your expectations soar too high. Because the dime has not yet come when you can throw away your bottle of aspirin tablets.

NON-FICTION

EMOTIONAL MATURITY IN LOVE AND MARRIAGE by Lucy Freeman and Harold Greenwald. A newspaperwoman and a practicing psychologist combine their talents to give us a reasonably clear explanation of the reason for various types of marital maladjustment, and sensible advice to everyone.

MENTAL HEALTH OR MENTAL ILLNESS? by William Glasser, M.D. Divided into three parts, this book explains first, the functioning of the "normal" person to satisfy his basic needs. Next, he describes the "abnormal" personality. The third section deals with the treatment of mental illness in institutions. He adds also a brief discussion of mental hygiene at family and community level.

A PROFESSIONAL WOMAN IN A MAN'S WORLD by Adeline White Scott. Largely a recounting of her own experience, this little book is also full of good advice to girls who are looking for careers.

MAKE THE MOST OF YOUR INCOME by John L. Springer. An authentic and practical family guide to better money management.

HOW TO GUIDE YOUR CHILD'S EDUCATION by Robert E. Wilson. Written in question-and-answer form, this small book describes the organization and operation of a school system, tells how to guide your child at various levels of his school life.

BETTER HOMES AND GARDENS SEWING BOOK. A well-planned guide to doing a good job at many types of sewing; dress-making, making curtains, draperies, slip-covers, spreads.

TESTED ADVERTISING METHODS by John Caples. New 1961 edition of a well-known guide.

MAKE YOUR OWN COLOR PRINTS by Robert Bagby. Step-by-step directions for making good color prints - he says you may do better if you are a beginner than if you have made black-and-white prints yourself.

THE ABLE SEAMAN by Everett B. Morris. What every boat-owner should know before he puts his boat in the water - and certainly before he takes any passengers.

SPEAKER'S ENCYCLOPEDIA OF HUMOR, edited by Judge Jacob M. Braude. Consists of stories, quotations, definitions and toasts for every occasion. The kind of book of which there should be a much more plentiful supply.

STRAW IN MY CAMEL'S HAIR by Naida Buckingham and Ingrid Etter. All the perils and confusions of being secretary to an Arabian King and an assemblage of Sheiks.

RUSSIANS AS PEOPLE by Wright W. Miller. How the Russian today lives and thinks. Mr. Miller has had, in all, twenty six years in Russia, so he should know his subject much better than most who write on it.

THE GREAT LAKES FRONTIER by John Anthony Caruso. A worthwhile addition to the history of our own region. The book begins with Rogers and Clark and takes the several states up to statehood. Much of the flavor of pioneer life is included.

HARPO SPEAKS! by Harpo

Marx. Harpo is almost as funny in this story of his life as he is when he is cutting up on the stage. Some people may think he is much more interesting in print, for he tells a vivid story.

FICTION

THE COIN PIN by Grace Carstens. The difficulties of a sensitive girl who wants to be a writer and has a mother who thinks only that her daughter should follow in her footsteps as guardian of the family wealth.

UEST FOR INNOCENCE by C. B. Gilford. Collin Brant goes to see the family of a young soldier who had been killed beside him in Korea. He had disliked the war companion, but felt all the more obligated for a reason which was very hard to discover.

THE MOVIEGOER by Walker Percy. Binx Bolling, young New Orleans businessman, found in the movies the reality he missed in life. Then he became involved in the troubles of his cousin-by-marriage, Kate, and found that he could fall in love.

DOCTOR ON TOAST by Richard Gordon. English humor and high jinx aboard a pleasure cruiser.

THE BALL by Christine Lambert. With only six months to live, Emmy Fleury sets in motion a whole chain of events climaxed by a magnificent ball which she gives as her grand farewell gesture. Her hope is that those she loves will have happier lives than she has had.

THE CROSSING POINT by Gerda Charles. Middle-aged Rabbi Le; Norberg wanted a wife. He found Sara Gabriel, who interested him but whose family was impossible, so he became engaged to Lilli, who had everything asked of a wife - except that she left him cold. London background.

FOX AND THE CAMELLIAS by Ignazio Silone. Some Italian expatriates in Italian Switzerland work against the dictator in their homeland. Excellent characterization, and told rather like an allegory. The author is one of the outstanding living writers of Europe.

SIX IMPOSSIBLE THINGS by Elizabeth Caddell. The Waynes of "The Lark Shall Sing," return for more unpredictable, funny adventures.

NINO by Clay Fisher. A fictional version of the life of the Apache Kid, famous western renegade. For years he was a trusted Army scout, but when he was wrongfully convicted of murder, he turned violently against the whites.

A MOVABLE FEAST by Margaret Boylen. The Mortrudes, five of them, were orphaned by a bizarre accident. But they grew up and prospered beyond normal expectations and they have a secret which seems to greatly increase the interest people have in them.

FIND THE BOY by W. H. Canaway. An unusual story about a ten-year-old boy who finds his way from Port Said to Durban (the whole length of Africa) by himself after his parents are killed in a raid.

SEIZE A NETTLE by Ann Ritter. All five of the Abernathy's were women—but they were seldom down-hearted and fought the Depression with a vigor not often seen. They can't help enjoying life, no matter what fate has to offer them.

In some contests conducted in the United Kingdom and Germany, the average duck has laid eggs, in one year, equal to eight times her own weight, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Why Do It?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the things wrong with this world is that there are too many signs saying "Do it now!"

Do what now?

There are some of us who would like to change the signs to read "Why do it?"

The difference between those two signs spells the difference between two great classes of mankind—the hustlers and the procrastinators.

Which are you?

The hustlers, by and large, tend to be self-important people who pride themselves on their ability to save time and get a lot of things done. They regard themselves as practical, orderly, efficient and very, very businesslike.

Bustlers keep neat clean desks and are always hurrying from chore to chore and perpetually glancing at their watches to be sure they aren't late to the next appointment.

Bustlers don't like procrastinators. Bustlers complain procrastinators are dreamy idlers who never get anything done. Bustlers say they'd get a lot more things done themselves if it weren't for being impeded by shiftless procrastinators.

Fellow procrastinators, why do we take all this guff? Why do we let it give us a guilty feeling?

Let us put the bustler under a microscope for a change. What do we see?

The hustler makes up about one-tenth of the population and causes up to nine-tenths of its troubles.

The hustler often is a man who finds action so necessary he hops on a horse and rides off in all directions at once. As the dictionary says, he moves "with fussy or noisy activity, usually with more haste than purpose."

The hustler writes the billions of letters each year that don't need to be written. He makes the quick on-the-spot decisions that really put his firm or country on the spot.

What does the hustler do with all the time he saves by all that rush and roar? Why, he spends it rushing and roaring around trying to correct the errors he made by not taking enough time to do things right in the first place—that is if they really needed to be done at all.

It is we procrastinators who save the hustlers from destroying the earth.

It is the procrastinators, sometimes found feet on desk and sailing paper airplanes out the window, who are really practical, efficient and businesslike in their slow disorderly way.

They may put off doing a lot of things, but usually they are things that ought to be put off—sometimes forever. Isn't it better to do a right thing a day late than a wrong thing a week soon?

The motto of the hustler is, "Don't just stand there. Do something—and do it now."

The motto of the procrastinator is, "Don't just stand there. Sit down and be comfortable. Then do the unavoidable after you have avoided doing the unnecessary."

Puffs, Eclairs Come Easy

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Fascinating trifles, the cream puff and eclair! Watch diners look over a tray of French pastries: the airy desserts with their fillings of whipped cream and thick custard are sure to be chosen.

French chefs whip up pate a choux—the pastry base for cream puffs and eclairs—at the drop of a white toque. The pate a choux is placed in a pastry tube fitted with a large plain tube and forced onto a baking sheet.

Puffs wanted? The mixture is forced through the pastry bag into small mounds. Then, holding the bag at an angle, each mound is cut off with a quick circular twist of the wrist.

Is it eclairs you cherish? Then force the pastry into strips, about four inches long and almost an inch wide; pull back at the end of the strip and, holding the bag obliquely again, cut off the flow with a quick movement.

Chefs make their own pate a choux. But lucky you, you can use a cream-puff mix that comes packaged.

No pastry bag? Or slightly scared to use one? Drop the mixture with the help of spoons. Our mother was past mistress at this, her puffs equal size, coming out of the oven perfectly shaped, puffed and golden. We remember back to when we were very young, watching her preparing to serve them, cutting off the tops, filling them with the classic sweetened whipped cream.

Then our small fingers were allowed to replace the tops. Next came showering them with confectioners' sugar, in fabulous snowy drifts, and last but not least—licking our fingers!

But we grew to be school-age, and came the day when we insisted this treatment of the cream puff was old-fashioned! Chef fashion, my mother began to fill them with creamy custard—like eclairs—and cover the tops with a glassy-smooth chocolate frosting.

Next the teen-age do-it-yourself stage. The puffs must be filled with vanilla ice cream and served with a thick chocolate fudge sauce. To have the sauce a sure-fire success, we often used condensed milk, and here's one way of making this accompaniment.

Chocolate Sauce

Ingredients: 1 can (15 ounces) sweetened condensed milk, 2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup (or more) hot water, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Method: Pour sweetened condensed milk, chocolate and salt into top of double boiler. Cook over rapidly boiling water, stirring often, for about 10 minutes or until thick; remove from heat. Slowly stir in water, amount depending on consistency desired. Cool, stir in vanilla. Serve with cream puffs filled with vanilla ice cream.

Rural Health Confab Scheduled at KSU

LISBON — The northeast district Ohio Rural Health Council conference will be held at Kent State University Oct. 5, at 9:30 a.m., according to Floyd Lower, county extension agent in agriculture.

Bond L. Bible, health organization specialist at Ohio State University, is working with a committee representing local health groups in organizing the conference.

The theme will be social adjustment of young people. Luncheon reservations are to be made with the county agricultural extension office in any county not later than Sept. 29, Lower said.

Goshen Township Unit Changes Meeting Date

The Goshen Township Extension Group will hold its first meeting Sept. 15 at the Goshen Grange Hall. The meetings have been changed from the first to the third Friday of each month.

At the beginning of the 20th century, the average newborn U.S. child had a life expectancy of only 47 years.

Heart Council Sets Sept. 21 Meeting

The Columbiana County Heart Council will hold its quarterly membership meeting Sept. 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the Wick Hotel at Lisbon.

Two films will be shown on "Congenital Heart Failure" and "Congenital Heart Defects" and Dr. Peter J. Cibula will answer questions. There will be dessert and coffee prior to the business meeting.

Sidney C. Porter Jr. is president of the Columbiana County Heart Council.

JFK Says U.S. Must Surpass Soviets In Oceanography

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA)—The ocean depths may turn out to be more critical than outer space in the competition against Soviet Russia.

Knowledge of the deep seas may determine whether:

1. U. S. Polaris subs get through to attack Russia in a war.
2. Soviet "Polaris" type" subs bomb the U. S.
3. Russian sub packs cut off Europe in a war separating the U. S. from its allies.
4. The U. S. picks up great potential standby sources of critical minerals and chemicals.

FOR THESE REASONS, President Kennedy has decided that the U. S. must surpass Russia in oceanography—the study of the oceans.

Nikita Khrushchev has spent hundreds of millions of dollars in the past few years in an incredible effort to study the ocean's currents, geography, whims. The Red program is increasing. Mr. Khrushchev's ocean-study ships are newer, larger, more numerous than ours. They're found in almost every nook and cranny of the seas.

The Kennedy administration plans to spend $2 billion on oceanography in the next 10 years, Congress willing. If the first of these plans goes through Capitol Hill, the fiscal 1962 national effort in oceanography will double that in 1961.

WHILE THE FIRST effort is basic, it could revolutionize undersea warfare. Ocean undersea routes now are being mapped out for submarine crossings of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans that would be virtually impossible to detect. Along other routes, submarines would be sitting ducks for the enemy because their sound would be greatly magnified by the ocean.

By knowing more about the habits of fish, plant locations and such, submarines one day may be able to "hide," screened by the sounds of this marine life.

Then there is point two: by learning when and where to set off a constant stream of underwater sounds—or electromagnetic waves—American coastal defenses conceivably could confuse Russian submarine commanders enough to prevent them from operating successfully underwater. Then, according to theory, they would have to surface and become sitting ducks for U. S. patrols without ever getting the chance to bomb the U. S.

THERE ARE SOME scientists who believe that, if they knew enough about the ocean's characteristics, they could temporarily heat sizeable areas, change the sounds coming through water and confuse the enemy.

Other men are searching for ways to foretell and use the temporary "channels" under the ocean surface through which sounds can be sent and "heard" over very long distances. The nation that first conquers the problem of "hearing" long distances underwater will have the drop on the enemy—both on its submarines and surface ships.

But this isn't all. There are researchers who figure that atom bombs set off in the right place and time in the ocean, could change the ocean currents and the climate.

THE SEA ALSO may provide an abundance of some key minerals in the event of a wartime scarcity, including:

Large oil and gas deposits that may be on the undersea continental shelf areas of the Caribbean, South America and Alaska.

Known deposits in the Gulf of Mexico and off the coast of California.

Iron ore deposits now being mined from under the inner edge of a continental shelf off Bell Island, Newfoundland.

Coal crops along the coast lines and extending seaward off Vancouver Island on Canada's West Coast, Nova Scotia on its East and near Chile.

Phosphorite deposits on high areas off the California coast, that may be an estimated 70 times greater than the total yearly U. S. output.

Manganese in widely distributed rich nodules, particularly in the South Pacific and Indian Oceans.

GREATER KNOWLEDGE of fishing habits can and are bringing in greater catches at lower costs. "Fences" of air bubbles herd fish into nets. Suction pumps now being developed may replace nets and hooks in fishing in some places. By discovering that fish don't like to cross cold currents of water, the nation's fishermen can corner them in nets more easily.

And so the race continues, in every phase of oceanography. For us, the Navy may be allocated nearly half of the $2 billion to be spent in the next decade. They will be joined by a host of government agencies including the Atomic Energy Commission, the Departments of Interior, and Health, Education and Welfare and the National Science Foundation. Says one Navy scientist about the program: "Who knows what we may find?" We know so little now."

Between 1775 and 1800, an estimated 300,000 people made their way on foot, horseback and wagon through the Cumberland Gap near Middlesboro, Ky., as the U.S. population moved westward.
